THE BRIGHAM SYSTEM

- Drastically decreases tongue-bite (the burning sensation on the tongue)
- Virtually eliminates gurgle and moisture
- Does not impede airflow - you can pass a pipe cleaner through it
- Does not impart any flavour of its own
- Improves the smoking characteristics of even the wettest tobaccos
- Decreases the amount of contact smoke makes with the stem
- No chemicals or adhesives of any kind are used in making the filter
- Inserts are easily replaced and can even be rinsed, dried and reused several times

In the 1930s, Roy and Herb Brigham realized what a massive benefit it would be to develop a pipe that could eliminate the most common pipe smoking complaint - "tongue bite", even more so if that solution was embraced by the most discerning aficionado.

After continual experimentation and research, Roy and Herb discovered that tongue bite was in fact a form of mild chemical burn to the tongue, caused by tars and acids in the smoke. They postulated that by properly filtering the smoke, it would be possible to remove these impurities and thereby stop the tongue bite. The question became how to do so without effecting the taste of the tobacco.

Roy & Herb began experimenting with many materials, both common and exotic, in the quest for the perfect pipe filter. Results varied wildly. Most of the materials didn't work at all and most actually imparted their own flavour into the smoke. They eventually found just two materials that were satisfactory: bamboo and rock maple. As bamboo was obviously not as readily available, rock maple then became the logical choice.

They were able to create a replaceable hollow wooden tube which, when inserted into a specially made pipe, caused absolutely no restriction to the draw of the pipe and reduced the smoke's exposure to the rubber stem. Through natural wicking action, it was found that this design extracted many of the impurities which had caused tongue bite and also reduced excess moisture. The result was dramatic - a truly natural, passive, reusable system that improved the smoking experience for both neophyte and expert alike. Brigham has never looked back!

Herb Brigham, son of founder Roy Brigham learned to make Scandinavian pipe shapes from a Dutch Pipe Master in the Catskill mountains during World War 2. Years later he would hand select briar and personally make each and every "President's Pipe."

Although sadly Mr. B has passed on, his tradition continues to this day. Each pipe is handmade and available only when the best briar is available to craft them. Each of the four grades is distinguished by a unique finish.

BRIGHAM PRESIDENT SERIES

BRIGHAM GIANTE SERIES

GIANTE
EXTRA LARGE PIPES

Not every large piece of briar is perfect enough for a President, but high quality large blocks are often set aside for our Giante series.

Designed for those who like very large pipes, these are all made with the Brigham Distillator system and deliver an amazing smoking experience.

ACADIAN

Just as Henry Wadsworth Longfellow (Evangeline) and Robbie Robertson (Acadian Driftwood) have immortalized the Acadians in their art we are similarly honouring this enduring and rich heritage in the art of a pipe.

 37-10xx

KLONDIKE

The earthy brown colour offset by the gold Brigham insignia conjures images of prospectors panning for gold. Not everyone struck it rich in the Klondike gold rush but everyone can strike it rich with a Brigham Klondike.

 36-10xx

HERITAGE

This series carries our traditional Brigham look – a deep, rich burgundy that colours with grace and charm into a deep almond brown with time. It delivers the rich heritage of value, performance and reliability that Brigham pipes has become known for.

 35-10xx

CHINOOK

Like the pleasant and welcomed warm brief relief a chinook provides in the grip of winter, the Brigham Chinook will provide a pleasant and welcomed break from the usual routine. Full of character, this conversation starter will provide a lifetime of quality and enjoyment.

 34-10xx

Acadian, Klondike, Heritage and Chinook each come with a metal tin and are available in the following shapes:

TUNDRA

TUNDRA SHAPE CHART

Introducing TUNDRA,
a brand new Brigham
pipe series!

In this new pipe series,
we strived to capture the seasonal colours of the Tundra - from the desolate monochrome
of winter to the rich ambers and reds of summer.

To achieve this, Tundra pipes are made from high quality briar, sandblasted one-by-one, fit with an acrylic stem, gold coloured band and finished with a special brown staining process. This combination creates subtle variations in shade between pipes making the finish of each one unique - something of a departure from our more traditional uniform finishes.

Shape #63 re-work

Classic #26 semi-bent bulldog

Tundra comes in 13 shapes which includes a number of classic, original Brigham Designs we haven't made for decades:

#26 Semi-Bent Bulldog, #22 Poker, #06 Dublin, #87 Semi-Bent Dublin and a full re-working of shape #63 to bringing it back to its original profile. This lineup offers something for everyone to enjoy!

MOUNTAINEER (3-dot)

Modern mountaineering provides daring and adventure to those who seek it. As encouragement to that spirit, our mid-price pipe offers a reward to those who ascend to higher quality.

 33-10xx

ALGONQUIN (2-dot)

The upward curl of smoke, the calm of the morning lake and the distant sound of the loon – like its namesake provincial park, the Algonquin is best enjoyed in a state of quiet reflection and appreciation for the moment.

 32-10xx

VOYAGEUR (1-dot)

The Voyageur casts off into the unknown to explore and discover the wonders of the Canadian wild. Our entry level design offers a similar reward for those testing the waters of the Brigham pipe experience.

 31-10xx

Voyageur, Mountaineer and Algonquin are available in the following shapes:

BRIGHAM SYSTEM SERIES

Brigham System pipes allow those on a tighter budget to afford the Brigham pipe experience. These are briar pipes fitted with the world famous Brigham Distillator System, available in two finishes (brown sandblast and black satinated) and six of our best selling shapes.

The System series is positioned below the One Dot as an entry level pipe and is distinguished by a heat-stamped B and leaf logo on the stem. Pipes are stamped with a shape number followed by "S".

Lorenzetti pipe

Lorenzetti Pipes was founded in 1934 by Otello Lorenzetti in Recanati, Italy. When Otello could not be heard singing and working tirelessly in his small workshop, he could be seen 'with the strength of his own legs' traveling to neighboring villages selling his pipes.

His local fame for high quality and creative pipes grew quickly and as he acquired his own tools and taught his family to source the best briar and craft pipes together. His work eventually gained the attention and appreciation of one of Italy's most famous pipe aficionados, President Sandro Pertini.

Today, that proud tradition continues with grandson Allesandro Lorenzetti who works daily to create and craft a comprehensive range of pipes with a signature flair.

THE EMPEROR SERIES

—By Lorenzetti—

Named after five of history's most famous Roman Emperors, each line is primarily distinguished by the color of its finish. In addition to these differences, like fine Italian wines, each line carries a selection of styles to suit even the most discriminating palette.

These pipes are an incredible value and made of top quality briar. They have quietly grown to be one of our best selling pipes as consumers and retailers alike discover this hidden gem of the pipe world.

HUMIDORS

After looking high and wide for great humidors to sell at reasonable prices, we decided the best way to ensure the highest quality was to design our own.

We've taken the time with every detail - felt bottoms, quality locks and piano hinges, our own Premium humidification units and hygrometers, and every production run goes through a 58 point inspection process to ensure our humidors are the best value on the market.

— SLIM DIGITAL — CIGAR HYGROMETER — & THERMOMETER —

58-2620

6-Pack

This device will accurately measure the Relative Humidity (RH) in your humidor to within +/- 2 degrees at 70% and the temperature to +/- 1 degree C/F. Instructions and batteries included.

The Recalibration Procedure

1. Fill a plastic soda cap with plain table salt.
2. Add just enough water to the salt to make it wet, but not so much water that it floats on the surface of the salt. If your salt solution is too wet, add more salt until the standing water is absorbed.
3. Place the wet salt solution in a zip-lock plastic bag.
4. Place Brigham's Round Digital Hygrometer in the bag with the salt solution.
5. Seal the bag and wait 4 hours.
6. After 4 hours, look at the round digital hygrometer. The humidity reading should be 75%. If it is 75%, remove it from the bag. If it is not 75%, push and hold the "Cal" button until the unit re-sets to 75%. Remove from the bag. It is ready for use in your humidor.

Brigham Humidor Solution is PRE-MIXED to the perfect proportions for use every time.

Propylene Glycol (PG) and Water dissipate from the humidification unit at different rates - it's essential to get the mix right. Too much water in a PG solution can result in over-humidification as the PG will dissipate before the water is exhausted. Too much PG in a mix will have the opposite effect as after few refills, the humidification unit will become saturated with PG and stop working.

We've done the research and arrived at the ideal balance to keep your cigars fresh and your humidification system working at peak performance longer!

Simply fill your humidifier with this pre-mixed solution, dry the humidifier casing and place in your humidor. That's it! The Brigham Humidor Solution will work on its own to modify the relative humidity in your humidor and keep your cigars safe.

When the humidity level in your humidor drops below 70%, the Propylene Glycol (a hygroscopic fluid) forces the distilled water into the air until 70% humidity is achieved.

When the humidity level rises above 70%, the Propylene Glycol attracts the moisture from the air, storing it in your humidification unit.

TRAVEL HUMIDORS

Brigham travel humidors are designed for maximum protection no matter what the elements throw at you.

Each box has an IP68 rating - it can be fully submersed in water to a depth of over 33 meters for over 30 minutes without a leak. It also resists direct compression of more than 1,000kgs and is shock-proof, meaning no matter how badly the box is treated during your adventures, you can trust that your cigars will be safe inside.

As cigar smokers and frequent travelers ourselves, we found other boxes too big and bulky to fit well into suitcases and backpacks. When it came time to design our own travel humidor, we chose a slim profile which makes it easier to slide in and out of any bag without sacrificing the number of cigars inside.

So whether you're camping, fishing, headed to the beach or your next business meeting, make sure to pack your cigars in a Brigham travel humidor.
